Force and Coast Guard leadership were the invited guests of Fairhaven Selectmen and members of the Fairhaven Businessmen's Association on Monday evening, May 23, at the Town Hall. The Fairhaven officials acknowledged the strong cooperation of the military in the forthcoming Festival of Flags celebration which will be held in that town July 6-9. The Festival of Flags is a project of the Fairhaven Businessmen who started with a simple and effective idea. They decided to counteract the increasingly, frequent incidents which attempt to degrade our symbol by holding a Festival especially to honor our Flag. Many months of planning, many generous offers of participation will result in a patriotic display that certainly merits national attention. All branches of the armed forces will be represented with units, bands, models and displays, and it was this enthusiastic response by the military command that Fairhaven recognized on Monday evening.

The hall was decorated with the flags from the 50 states of the union. These state flags will be part of the colorful display during the festival. Mr. Chester A. Hathaway, president of the Businessmen's Association, expressed the pleasure and thanks of Fairhaven to the various branches of the Armed Forces for their participation. Mr. Kenneth LaVallee, who has worked to gather support for the Festival from the military, state and national levels, spoke briefly in thanks.

About 30 servicemen, from Colonel to Private in rank, represented the four major branches. The letters were presented by Henry Nicholson, Jr., who is heading the campaign to sell U. S. Flags to all town residents at no profit, so that every home will display them during the Festival. The plaques were awarded by American Legion Post Commander, Alfred Texeira.

At the Festival, bands, floats, displays, thousands of flags, state and national, will be in evidence. National, state and local officials will take part as well as high ranking military leaders.

WOMAN'S CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Bouquets of Spring flowers, attractively arranged by Mrs. Victor Twiraga, decorated the tables in the Mattapoisett Congregational Church parish hall last Thursday for the annual meeting and luncheon of the Mattapoisett Woman's Club.

Following a delicious catered lunch the annual meeting was held presided over by Mrs. Leonard A. Burnham, out going president, who was presented with a past president's pin by Mrs. Louis Corey, Jr. She was also presented a corsage of yellow flowers. A silver plate

A candidates' night in cooperation with area towns is planned for some time in July at the Rochester Memorial School. One of the scheduled speakers will be Lt. Gov. Elliot Richardson. Mr. Underhill will be general chairman of this with Mrs. Hartley, Sr. in charge of the buffet; Mrs. Underhill, Sr., posters; and Mrs. Smith, publicity. A number of prizes will be awarded.

Associate members voted to be on the committee at this meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Oldfield, Joseph Adrian Chamberlain, Jr. and Victor St. Aubin.

Chairman Hartley has tickets for a chicken barbecue which will be held on Sunday, June 12, at the Acushnet Grange, with Governor John A. Volpe as featured speaker. He reported on a recent meeting of the Plymouth County Republicans for which he was nominated to serve as a director and Mr. Underhill, secretary.

In addition to the aforementioned, committee members who attended this meeting were vice-chairman, Nathan Lawrence; Elmore Howes, Mrs. George Church and Mrs. Edgar Martin are co-chairmen of the annual scholarship whist to be held in the large hall of the clubhouse on Saturday evening, June 4, at 8:00 P.M. Mrs. Greenwood Hartley, Sr. will be chairman of the refreshment table. Donations of prizes from members will be very welcome.

The next meeting of the club members will be held on Wednesday evening, June 8, at which time Mrs. Everett L. Hardy, president, will tell of her visit as delegate to the State Federation Convention held in Swampscott on May 16-18. Other members who attended were Mmes. Wesley Davoll, George Church, Alphonse Raymond and Greenwood Hartley, Sr. Reports will also be received from Mrs. Irving Ellis, chairman of the Raymond C. Hartley scholarship committee; and Mrs. Henry Smith, charter committee. Plans for the smorgasbord to be held in June will be completed with committees named.

CAPEWAY LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL RESULTS

Last Week's Games

Tuesday: At Washburn Memorial Park--Blues versus Cubs. The Blues defeated the Cubs in a well played contest 3 to 0. Ray Quinn chalked up his second win and second 1-hitter in hurling the win. Ray was given good support by his teammates and Gene Gaspar was the big stick for the Blues with his double to Centerfield. Cub Anselmo "Teensie" Lopes, although absorbing the loss, pitched 4-hit ball, and spoiled Quinn's bid for a no hitter with an infield single. Umpires were Sgt. Frank Cooper and Ted Lacey.

Royals versus Reds at Raynor Gifford Memorial Park. The Reds went down to their first defeat at the hands of the Royald 4 to 3. This game was a real exciting game with the Royals coming from behind to tie in the 6th and finally putting the game on ice with Dave Martin's triple, scoring Fatula. Dave Fatula was the winning pitcher. Reds--"Chuck" Crowley, although experiencing control trouble, was the victim of mental lapses at the most crucial point in the game.

Greens versus Eagles at Center School. The Greens routed the Eagles 15 to 6. "Go Go" Gomez, "Rod" Stancliff and Steve Kelly combined pitching duties for the win. Stancliff and Gomes homered for the winners. Dan Gibbs, though wild at times, received poor support afield in taking the loss. Umpires were Mr. Oliver LaFrance and Mr. Robert Sylvia.

Wednesday at Center School in a make-up of a previously rained out game, the Blues swamped the Reds 9 to 4. The Reds threw a scare into the Blues when they took the lead 4 to 1 in the 3rd inning, but the 4th inning, the Blue bats began to ring with the sound of hits by Gene Gaspar, Mark Jones, Mark Breton, Steve MacLean and Mark Trow, and at game's end it was 9 to 4. Blues Eric Pepin pitched shut-out ball after the 3rd for the win. Ken "Wee Bee" Wilbur took the loss. Umpires were Mr. Robert Tinkham and Mr. Vernon Taylor.

Thursday at Washburn Park, the Blues took the Eagles 9 to 2, and stayed undefeated with a 4-0 record. The Blues played good defense behind Mark Breton, the winning pitcher. Steve MacLean and Ray Quinn were credited with a pair of fielding gems. Quinn was the "Big Bat" with a homer and two triples. Umpires were Joe Zora and Ted Lacey.

At Center School the Reds and the Cubs played a 7 inning tie 4-4, and this game is rescheduled for Wednesday, June 8th, at Center School as a new game. The Cubs will also replay a tie with the Greens Wednesday, June 1st, at Washburn Park as a new game. Umpires were Len Roberts and Joe Carson.

At Raynor Gifford Park the Royals came from behind to defeat the Greens 10-9. David Fatula doubled in the 6th frame to score Julio Andrade with the winning run. Other timely hitters in the Royals' big rally were "Big Dave" Martin, Paul Gibbs, and Brian Sherman. Winning pitcher was Gary Riley. "Go Go" Gomez played a stellar role for the Greens with a long double that came inches close to a homer.

Gomes, while pitching, had a 9-2 lead, when his pitcher eligibility ran out in the 4th frame. Rod Stancliff relieved, was wild and gave way to Joe "Scoops" Bettencourt, the losing pitcher. Umpires were Mr. John Fatula and Robert Stancliff.

Mattapoisett Minor League All Stars defeated the Marion Peewees 21-1 behind pitcher Mike Cooper. Coaching this team are Carl Nelson, Manuel Luiz and James Hinman. In another game at the opposite end of Washburn Park a Minor League "B" team defeated another Peewee combination 15-5. Coaching the "B" team were Robert Fietz and Doctor Charles Hutchings. Doctor Hutchings is initiating a plan for uniforming the All-Star Combination from surplus Little League uniforms. "Doc" is requesting the mothers' help in fitting these uniforms to the boys. The Mattapoisett Sports Committee is cooperating with "Doc" in the endeavor.

The Mattapoisett Sports Committee welcomes Mr. Floyd Empey to the coaching staff of the Red team, and Mr. Richard Mello to the Greens' coaching staff. These men bring a good background of baseball experience, and also coaching experience with them. Mr. Empey is a former semi-pro coach and Mr. Mello has eight years' experience coaching Little League teams for the South End Youth Association of New Bedford. He is also a teacher in the Old Rochester Regional School system.

GARDEN CLUB TO HOLD TOUR

The Marion Garden Club shall start off its new program season by enjoying a bit of nostalgia on a guided tour through the Sandwich Glass museum in Sandwich, then onto the Dexter Farm, famous world over for their Hybrid Rhododendrons. A stroll through the magnificent flowered paths will be highlighted by a box lunch to be eaten at the lake on the estate.

The date has been set for Monday, June 13, rain or shine, as an alternate program has been planned after the museum tour in case of rain. The club and interested guests from Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester are asked to rendezvous at the Old Stone Studio in Marion at 10:00 A.M. for a brief but important business meeting. Departure time will be 10:15 sharp. For those members needing transportation please call Mrs. Bradford A. Hathaway. There will be a small charge for non-members to cover the cost of the museum. Don't forget to tote a lunch please.

GRANGE YOUTH HAVE BUFFET SUPPER

Recently a buffet supper was enjoyed by the youth of the Mattapoisett Grange in the Grange Hall. Special recognition was given the members graduating from Old Rochester Regional and Vocational High Schools. During the social hour, a meeting was held with the advisor, Mrs. Barbara Heuberger. Plans were made to have a car wash June 5th with Christine Bence chairman. The proceeds will go to help defray the expense of those going to the Youth Leadership School held June 26-29 at the University of Massachusetts.

Hostesses were Mrs. Barbara Heuberger, Mrs. Ruby Barber, Mrs. Ruth Shaw and Mrs. Mildred LeBaron.

A Farm Boy's Memories of 100 Years Ago II

In the three years following my father's birth in 1861, the only important event at the homestead at the head of the Neck Road was the birth of Mr. and Mrs. John Mendell's second son 14 months later. Him they named John Jr., but he was destined to live only a couple of years.

When Father was about a month over three, the blow struck that changed the lives of all of the family. During January, 1865, a violent northeast gale uprooted many trees, including quite a few in John Mendell's apple orchard across the Neck Road to the west of the house. He had a heavy chest cold, but he insisted, in spite of the anxious pleadings of his wife, in rigging up and going out to chop up the trees while the wood was still green. After a couple of hours of hard exertion in the driving, cold rain (there were no water proof articles of clothing in those days) he returned to the house thoroughly chilled and thoroughly weakened. That night the chest cold developed swiftly into pneumonia; a few days later he was dead,

Now comes a tale of a memory that my father never knew he had. It is an amazing example of how events occurring in early childhood are stored in a person's subconscious for the rest of his life although his conscious memory never has any recollection of them. When Father was 87, in 1949, he suffered a severe cerebral spasm (blood clot in artery leading to the brain). During his five weeks in the hospital and seven weeks in bed at home, his mind was in an unusual condition; he knew everybody who came to see him, he knew he was sick in bed, but in all else he was unaware of anything at that time or for the previous 50 years. However, if he were asked about his young manhood, his adolescence, his boyhood, or his childhood, his mind was as clear as a bell and he repeated his innumerable stories of his youth with their usual details.

But these were conscious memories. The unexpected occurred several weeks later. One day, completely out of the blue, he began to talk about his father's funeral--in 1865. It was always the same point, always the same question. To everyone who came to his bedside, he asked with childish anxiety whether there would be enough carriages to carry all the people who attended the funeral from the house to the cemetery (i.e., from the head of the Neck Road up the River Road, across the Arch Bridge, and so on up to the Hammondtown cemetery just below John Jenney's corner.) He repeated again and again that his mother was weeping and saying that her husband had so many friends that she was afraid there would not be enough carriages to carry them. Father was actually living back in those days of grief and anxiety, and was trying to help round up carriages for the funeral. After two days he stopped this talk and never mentioned the matter again.

A few weeks later the clot near his brain dissolved, his mind snapped back to normal, and he was his old self mentally (except that the whole period of his sickness was a blank.) I decided to find out whether he held this episode in his conscious memory but had almost completely forgotten it with the passage of nearly 90 years, or whether it was indeed completely buried in his subconscious. He had never mentioned it in all the thirty-odd years that he had been telling me memories of his boyhood. So one day I led the conversation back to his childhood and finally asked him questions about his father's funeral: Could he remember anything about it? No, not a thing; he was too small to recall anything about it. Had he no vague memory of his mother's weeping and worrying about many people and not enough carriages? No. He had no memory of any such events. Did he have any vague recollection of the funeral--of many people in black and of many horses and carriages? No; after all he was only just three years old. He ended by saying, "They would have sent a little child like me to some friend's to get me away from it all. I know nothing about it." So I told him what he had said during his illness. He was surprised but only mildly interested. It was nothing he knew anything about.

So John Mendell was laid to rest in the quiet of the Hammondtown cemetery. His widow was left to face the world with a farm; with a step-daughter Lucy aged 12 (for this had been John Mendell's second marriage); with a daughter Clara, 5 1/2, (who died in her twenties of appendicitis, then called inflamation of the bowels, for which no operation had yet been developed); and the two little boys Charles and John Jr.

She was also carrying another child who was born the following April 9, and whom she named Ellis Lincoln Mendell. (President Lincoln's assassination occurred five days later.) Many townspeople remember Ellis Mendell. He married Mary--always called Madie--Clark and lived for years in the big house on lower Main Street now owned by Mrs. Suzan and turned into apartments.

Before the year was over, Mrs. John Mendell bore another grievous loss. Towards the end of October her second little boy, John Jr., aged two and a half, died. So in one year, this young woman of 23, who had been forced by her parents at 17 to marry a widower twice her age, had experienced the sudden death of her husband, the bearing of a child after her husband's death, and the death of one of her own flesh and blood.
